Description: Centro de Alto Rendimento de Vila Nova de Gaia (High Performance Center of Vila Nova de Gaia), has capacity for 100 people on tatami, and a fully acclimatized environment, isolated thermal and acoustically, respecting all safety standards.

Airport:

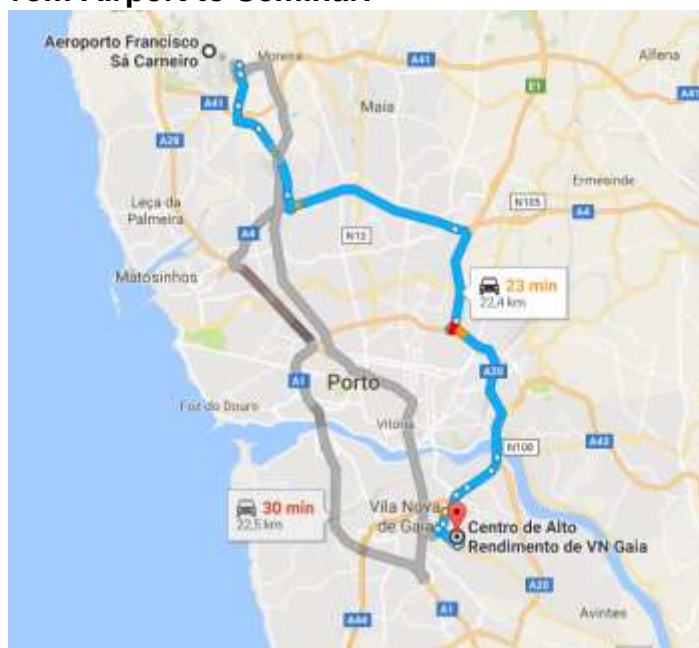

The Francisco Sá Carneiro Airport also called Porto Airport (IATA code: OPO; ICAO code: LPPR) is located in the Grand Porto, at the dividing line between the municipalities of Maia, Matosinhos and Vila do Conde in Portugal, with entry in the Porto suburbs of Pedras Rubras in Maia. It is at present the Portuguese airport with larger catchment area.

It is currently the best airport of Portugal in terms of space in the terminal.

In terms of air movement of cargo and passengers, it is the second largest in Portugal.

This modern airport has witnessed a large increase in passengers and flights, while also being their destinations to increase more and more, especially at European level thanks to several low-cost airlines.

From Airport to Seminar:

From the airport to the Seminar location there is a estimated distance of 22,5 Km
